First Things First - Why would you need a mobile App?

More Business

It's as simple as that. This new and personal way of interacting with your customers helps you to generate more leads, more sales and therefore more business.

Connect

Engage your customers on an individual basis. Reach them where other communication methods fail. You can send them personal notifications about new properties or special offers. A mobile app establishes a personal connection between your real estate agency and your clients.

FUN FACT:
IN JANUARY 2011,
'APP' WAS AWARDED THE
HONOUR OF BEING
2010'S "WORD OF THE YEAR" BY THE
AMERICAN DIALECT SOCIETY.

Simply ask yourself:

1. Do my customers have smart-phones?
2. Do they use mobile apps?

Progression

Lead the real estate market. If you are the first ones to have an app, everyone else will simply be followers to your innovative approach. It sets you ahead of the pack as the progressive leader. Fifteen years ago it was innovative to have a website, today it's a standard for every agency. Apps will have the same effect on mobile marketing and business interactions.

User Experience

It's a lot more immediate since people can communicate with your agency whenever and wherever they want. This omnipresence distinguishes mobile app marketing from every other promotional tool out there. Mobile apps use all the functionalities of your customers' mobile devices - social media integration, video & audio, directions, appointments & contacts, media galleries and many more.

'It's no longer going to be a cool thing to have a mobile app. It's going to be a customer expectation.'
